

A Haunting Read

(NAPSA)—Popular New England author Carla Neggers spins a tale with a haunted house, a ghostly nineteenth-century seafaring family and a modern-day murder in The Carriage House (MIRA Books, $6.50).

In The Carriage House, readers will uncover a skeleton in the basement.

When Tess Haviland becomes the owner of a run-down, nineteenth century carriage house on Boston's North Shore, she hopes that with a little hard work the old house could become the home of her dreams.

However, the house is rumored to be haunted by the ghost of a wealthy seaman who killed the original owner.

As Tess tackles the project, she becomes involved with the neighbors—a handsome architect and his six-year-old daughter and the girl's reclusive uncle, all descendants of the very ghost said to be haunting her home.

Then Tess discovers a skeleton in the dirt cellar—which soon disappears. Tess turns to her neighbor Andrew for help. As they move closer to the truth, one thing becomes clear: the lives of Tess and everyone else connected with the old carriage house are in jeopardy.

A desperate murderer will do anything to keep the past buried—even if it means burying those who seek answers to the past.

The Carriage House is in bookstores, online at www.mirabooks.com and is also available as an audio recording from dh audio.