

Spring Fashion Report

For Women Who Refuse To Wear Maternity Clothes...

(NAPSA)—Pregnant women are said to have a certain glow about them. Now they can have an opportunity to glow in the latest looks for spring.

One retailer, A Pea in the Pod, caters to the very stylish pregnant woman who wants the season's latest looks. The boutique boasts a clientele that includes such celebrities as: Kelly Ripa, Cindy Crawford, Amber Valetta, Catherine Zeta Jones, Kelly Preston, Jada Pinkett Smith, Thandie Newton, Melissa Rivers, Kelli Williams, Ming Na and Annette Bening.

The high-end maternity retailer specializes in offering the most up-to-date trends, fabrics styles and designs. This spring is no exception, A Pea in the Pod is filled with bold florals, graphic black and white patterns, colored denim and soft pink hues—all must-have looks this season. The customer can stock up on sweaters, legwear, special occasion wear, swimwear, active wear and accessories. In addition to their own style savvy collection, you can also find designer labels like Anna Sui, Lilly Pulitzer, Three Dots and Nicole Miller.

Shoppers at A Pea in the Pod say they love the chic, luxurious fashions the boutique has to offer. Favorite items amongst celebrities include, the leather pants being worn by Kelly Ripa and Natalie Maines from the Dixie Chicks, the suede pants worn by T-Boz from TLC and by Kelly Preston.

Many mothers-to-be say they

Spring fashions for the chic mom-to-be.

prefer to shop here because these are the same fashions they would want to buy normally, but cut for a pregnant body.

To find the nearest A Pea in the Pod location, call toll-free at 1-877-APEAPOD or shop online at www.apeainthepod.com.